The Maryland Network Against Domestic Violence (MNADV) is the state domestic violence coalition that brings together victim service providers, allied professionals, and concerned individuals for the common purpose of reducing intimate partner and family violence and its harmful effects on our citizens. With assistance from the Office, MNADV targeted domestic violence service providers, health care professionals, and substance use treatment programs so that survivors of abuse who use substances are provided a continuum of care. This project brought together the four fields to enhance knowledge, skills, and collaboration between partners through a series of statewide symposiums and a skill-building training initiative that address the co-occurrence of intimate violence and substance use. In addition, MNADV continues to collaborate with the Office to conduct regional Best Practices trainings and identify any gaps in services amongst domestic violence service providers. Results of these trainings are based on trainee satisfaction surveys which allows MNADV and the Office to identify future trainings on areas of concern. The Office and MNADV will continue to collaborate through participation in the Family Violence Council (FVC) and the Maryland State Board of Victim Services (MSBVS) as well as consulting on legislative initiatives affecting our constituents. The FVC, Page 9 of 14 Last Modified Date: 12/17/2018 Office for Victims of Crime - Performance Measurement Tool (PMT) State Board of Victim Services (MSBVS) as well as consulting on legislative initiatives affecting our constituents. The FVC, housed at the Governor's Office of Crime Control & Prevention, attends monthly meetings with Council members to include the MNADV to discuss gaps in services, current and future projects, and funding needs. GOCCP continues to collaborate with the Maryland Coalition Against Sexual Assault (MCASA), the state's identified sexual assault coalition. MCASA represents all of the sexual assault programs receiving funding. GOCCP works closely with the Executive Directors of both MCASA and MNADV to coordinate statewide meetings for service providers. Additionally, GOCCP offers statewide meetings, such as strategic planning and technical assistance sessions for service providers. The Family Violence Council Coordinator (FVC), housed at GOCCP, attends monthly meetings with the Council Members to include the Maryland Network Against Domestic Violence (MNADV) to discuss gaps in services, current projects, and funding needs. This Council comprises representatives from all geographic regions of the State therefore; the Network is able to address the needs of rural as well as suburban and urban populations. The FVC Coordinator is present to participate in discussions of issues related to the distribution of funds within the State. GOCCP continues to conduct a combined VAWA/VOCA/FVPSA Strategic Planning Session to discuss priorities for the state of Maryland in regards to victims and victim services. This further diversifies the Planning Team and includes several representatives from non-profit, non-governmental victim service providers. At the Strategic Planning Session, Maryland's previous year's Implementation Plan is reviewed in great detail, based on current jurisdictional needs, and the current response to violence against women. Successes stories and best practices, gaps in services, and barriers are addressed. Strategies are discussed to overcome barriers and the initial development of short term and long term goals and objectives are completed. The Office has directed up to $5 million in new funding resources to provide up to one year of transitional housing assistance for victims of crime, many of whom face homelessness as a result of becoming isolated from support networks. This program is coordinated by GOCCP, the Maryland Department of Human Resources, and the Maryland Department of Housing & Community Development. The Program assists in developing and implementing strategies specifically intended to provide assistance to victims of crime in the State of Maryland. The program provides short term rental assistance to individuals and families who are victims of domestic violence, sexual assault, as well as youth aging out of foster care who are victims of abuse and/or neglect. The program provides rental assistance and resource rich support to increase the likelihood of sustainable tenancy. Program funds provide personnel expenses and operating expenses, contractual services, equipment and other expenses.

Please discuss the major issues in your state that either assist or prevent victims from receiving assistance during the reporting period.

The Governor's Office of Crime Control & Prevention utilizes Maryland's Statewide Victim Services Needs Assessment as a tool to identify areas GOCCP can give priority attention in its efforts to promote access to victim services, especially for the underserved, while executing the goals of federal grants awarded to Maryland. This Assessment was developed with the input and support from numerous organizations and individuals. The contributions of Victim Services Organizations (VSOs) and criminal justice professionals were instrumental to conducting and completing this assessment of all of the participants. After analyzing the interview comments and VSO participant responses, the project team concluded that the main impediment to accessing victim services is transportation. Improving transportation was the number one recommendation by respondents for improving accessibility to services by crime victims. The primary source of transportation to service provider sites include the bus system (86.6%), taxi (76.1%), and own vehicle or family/friend assistance (74.6%). Respondents overwhelmingly indicated aid transportation or travel vouchers would enhance service accessibility for crime victims. Respondents also indicated transportation issues are also a huge barrier and the greatest reason why crime victims are unable to follow through with services. Another barrier centered on the lack of various forms of housing. The lack of available and affordable housing forces victim service providers to often turn away or delay services to victims often forcing the victim back into an at-risk environment. One service provider interviewee stated that of the 900 individuals who requested shelter, only one-third could be accommodated due to space. Because of the unique needs of certain victims, as in the case of human trafficking, transitional housing or shelters can often cause additional stress to the victims rendering the available resources (transitional housing or shelters) ineffective.

Please describe ways that your agency promoted the coordination of public and private efforts within the community to help crime victims during the reporting period.

The Office continues to administer funding to a majority of victim service providers in the State of Maryland. This allows a more coordinated effort between stakeholders and the Office to determine where the priorities of services are so that funds can be best targeted toward the needs that are most pressing within the State. The Office provides a one stop shop to victim service programs to better leverage scarce resources, identify and better form partnerships, and eliminate program and reporting duplication. The Office continues to give special emphasis to those organizations who demonstrate a record of providing effective services to victims of sexual assault, domestic violence, child abuse, and underserved populations; especially with the support and approval of its services by the community. The Office continues to assist programs that expand or enhance services provided to underserved populations such as Bilingual support staff to better communicate with victims with limited English proficiency, cultural specific victim services, and those victims identifying as LGBTQ. Moreover, the Office will continue to support services to children and victims living in rural areas through innovative approaches and outreach such as brochures and other printed materials in multiple languages placed strategically throughout the area(s) they serve to include law enforcement, hospitals, courts, doctors offices, and library. The Office continues to support emergency shelter programs with supportive services in place as well as those who have a strong referral base. The Office will continue to collaborate with the Maryland Network Against Domestic Violence (MNADV) on the identification of services and state-wide trainings initiatives for frontline staff on building assessment and referral skills. The Office and MNADV continues to collaborate through participation on the Governor's Family Violence Council and the State Board of Victim Services to provide the Governor with timely and accurate information on family violence with recommendations through legislation that will reduce and eliminate abusive behaviors. The Office will continue collaboration with the Maryland Coalition Against Sexual Assault (MCASA) who serves as the State's sexual assault coalition and represents all sexual assault programs to identify gaps in services to this specific population. With the coordination of both MNADV and MCASA, the Office is better equipped in focusing funding efforts. Comprehensive State Crime Control & Prevention Plan The Governor's Office of Crime Control & Prevention was charged with drafting a three-year Comprehensive State Crime Control & Prevention Plan (Plan) for the State of Maryland. This Plan is intended to focus, organize, and coordinate multi-agency initiatives, and serve as a platform for the constant evolution of public safety strategies in Maryland, to include real-time information sharing and the use of best and promising practices. Two key components of Maryland's Plan include (1) ensuring that all crime victims in Maryland are treated with dignity and respect, that their rights are upheld, and that funding is made available to provide assistance and support; and (2) the development of an action plan for reducing family violence in Maryland. These two components are part of the process that drives the funding decisions made by GOCCP. The Plan identifies Maryland's strategic plans for continuing these efforts through effective partnerships at the federal, state, and local level, as well as an ongoing commitment to using best and promising practices throughout the state. The key components to continue our efforts have been categorized to victim-centered various areas: Child Advocacy Centers: To continue funding for Child Advocacy Centers to help investigate child sexual abuse and protect child victims and their families. o The objective of Child Advocacy Center Services is to: Establish, enhance or expand the availability of direct services to children of sexual abuse and their families through designated categories and eligible services; Assure that children of sexual assault and abuse, and their families are apprised of their rights and available services; Assure that child victims and their families receive information about and assistance in filing for Victim's Compensation; and Target unserved and underserved populations for provision of crime victim services. Funds for Child Advocacy Center Assistance Grants support a broad range of functions, to include: Counseling and psychological services for children who have been physically, sexually, and/or emotionally abused; Services to help child victims overcome trauma; Counseling and support for families of children who have been victimized and abused; Forensic/medical evaluations; Specialized equipment; Specialized personnel including Child Protective Service Workers; Training; and Support successf

Please describe any notable activities at the grantee level during the reporting period that improved delivery of victim services.

The Office remains the State Administering Agency for most victim service programs in the State of Maryland. It provides the ability to coordinate funding throughout the State consistent with the desires of the stakeholders and allows the Office to examine gaps in services as provided through various contacts with the organizations that are funded. Improve Victim Services for Maryland Residents Victims of crime play a vital role in the criminal justice system. Maryland's programs and policies should acknowledge that victims have the right to information, the right to be present and provide input, the expectation of being treated with dignity and respect, and the right to receive restitution. In partnership with our federal, state, and local stakeholders, the Governor's Office of Crime Control & Prevention (Office) strives to ensure victims are afforded these rights at each stage of the criminal justice system. Within the State of Maryland, various victim service-related boards and councils were created, as well as workgroups to provide services to victims in need. Governor Larry Hogan announced the administration's Justice for Victims Initiative, a series of proposals to help prevent future victims of crime, protect Maryland's most vulnerable citizens, and stop repeat offenders. The Justice for Victims Initiative includes proposed legislation that will help prevent repeat sexual predators, protect victims of human trafficking, provide transitional housing for victims of crime, and toughen penalties for repeat drunk drivers. The proposals announced by Governor Hogan build on a strong record of protecting and supporting victims of crime in Maryland. During the 2016 legislative session, the Hogan administration worked closely with the legislature to enact the Justice Reinvestment Act, a landmark criminal justice reform law that includes key provisions to strengthen victims rights, including reforming the restitution system to ensure offenders repay victims for financial losses caused by their crimes. Governor Hogan's Justice for Victims Initiative includes: Repeat Sexual Predator Prevention Act of 2017: Governor Hogan announced this bipartisan measure, modeled after legislation put forward by Senator Brochin during the 2016 legislative session, which will allow courts to admit evidence of a defendant's prior history of sexual assault convictions during prosecution for subsequent sexual offenses. Data shows that many sexual predators follow patterns of behavior, and this proposal will ensure that prosecutors have the tools needed to bring these criminals to justice. Protecting Victims of Sex Trafficking Act of 2017: This proposed legislation will further define sexual abuse to include sex trafficking, regardless of whether the sexual abuse was committed by a parent or any other person who has responsibility for supervision of a child. Current law requires local agencies to have evidence of an alleged offender's relationship to a victim in order for law enforcement to investigate – this legislation will give authorities the ability to more effectively prosecute sex traffickers. Transitional Housing Assistance Program: Governor Hogan announced that the administration is directing up to $5 million in new funding resources to provide up to one year of transitional housing assistance for victims of crime, many of whom face homelessness as a result of becoming isolated from support networks. This program will be coordinated by the Governor's Office of Crime Control & Prevention, the Maryland Department of Human Resources, and the Maryland Department of Housing & Community Development. Repeat Drunk Driving Offenders Act of 2017: During the 2016 legislative session, Governor Hogan signed Noah's Law, which requires ignition interlock devices for anyone convicted of drunk driving in Maryland. The proposal announced today would make drunk driving a felony offense for those with three or more prior convictions, as well as for any offender convicted of causing a death or a life-threatening injury on a second or subsequent offense. Impaired driving crashes account for one-third of all traffic-related fatalities in the state, but the current maximum sentence is three years in prison, regardless of repeat offenses. Maryland State Board of Victim Services Recognizing the unique and distinctive needs of crime victims, the Maryland General Assembly created the Maryland State Board of Victim Services and the position of the State Coordinator in 1988. This was done for the purpose of monitoring, assessing, coordinating and making recommendations concerning state and local efforts to assist victims of crime. The Maryland State Board of Victim Services mission is to ensure that all crime victims in Maryland are treated with dignity, respect, and compassion during all phases of the criminal justice process. In 1991, under the authority of the Governor's Office of Crime Control & Prevention, the Maryland General Assembly cr

Child Abuse - The Baltimore Child Abuse Center, Inc.'s Multidisciplinary Response to Child Sexual Abuse program assists in developing and implementing strategies specifically intended to provide assistance to victims of crime in the State of Maryland. The program provides core intervention services for alleged victims of child sexual abuse when abuse is reported and for follow-up family advocacy services. Services include forensic interviews, medical exams and victim support/case management services. These comprehensive services aid law enforcement and child protective services with providing a single point of contact for victims that optimizes the investigation process. Program funds provide salary support. Through the life of the award, the Baltimore Child Abuse Center, Inc. (BCAC) has assisted a total of 1115 victims of child sexual abuse. BCAC promotes collaborations in many different ways, including conducting quarterly stakeholder calls and frequently hosting events for partners and victim service providers, participating on multiple local and statewide committees, task forces and other working groups, and establishing and strengthening partnerships with local partners and victim service providers to enhance the service delivery provided to BCAC clients. Some events hosted by BCAC include hosting an access to mental health symposium. Over a dozen local mental health treatment providers and other vested individuals from Baltimore City attended to discuss the lack of parent/caregiver participation in mental health treatment for their children. The event was hosted by the Executive Director of the National Children's Advocacy Center and welcomed the Director of Mental Health from the Chicago CAC to discuss her experiences in successfully addressing similar issues at her CAC. The event was highly successful, the group identified barriers to access and brainstormed ways BCAC and providers could work together to improve linkages, as well as set the stage for future meetings to dig deeper into the issue. BCAC consistently shows their commitment to their cause and expanding services throughout the State of Maryland. Domestic Violence - The Mid-Shore Council on Family Violence's Economic Empowerment Victim Services Project (MSCFV) assists in developing and implementing strategies specifically intended to provide assistance to rural victims of domestic violence on the Eastern Shore of Maryland. Empowerment Attorneys provide legal representation in Consumer Law cases so victims can financially restore themselves, minimize expenses and protect assets. In-addition, MOU established partners provide additional pro bono legal services to crime victims. Program funds provide salary support, contractual services, equipment, travel, and operational expenses. Mid-Shore Council on Family Violence served a total of 119 victims of domestic violence. Sexual Assault - The Howard County General Hospital's (HCGH) Sexual Assault and Interpersonal Violence Intervention Program exists specifically to provide direct service to victims of sexual assault and interpersonal violence in the State of Maryland. The program provides crisis intervention, forensic evaluation, counseling, support with volunteer accompaniment, and referral for services to both adult and child victims which include vulnerable and underserved populations. The program also focuses on staff training to increase competency in identifying victims while being cared for at the hospital. The hospital has sustained a 24-hour call schedule for Maryland Board of Nursing certified adult/adolescent and pediatric forensic nurse examiners to respond to victims needs. Under the direction of a forensic nurse examiner coordinator, the forensic nurse examiners (FNEs) have consistently responded to calls from the hospital's Emergency Department to care for adult and child primary and secondary victims of sexual assault. As the only designated resource for emergent care for sexual assault in Howard County, HCGH is committed to providing timely, compassionate, and high quality forensic nursing care services to these victims. A strong, experienced, and consistent leadership supports seasoned FNEs to ensure that consistent standards of practice for evidence collection are practiced and maintained. Program funds provide contractual personnel, personnel, and training support. Underserved- The Women's Law Center of Maryland's Legal Services for Crime Victims of DV/SA project offers legal immigration representation to foreign-born victims of domestic violence, sexual assault, intimate partner stalking, and trafficking primarily in Baltimore City, Baltimore County and Carroll County. The overarching goal is to achieve safety for victims. This goal is accomplished by providing victims with free legal assistance in the immigration process and the civil protective order process to ensure effective access to the courts and positive legal outcomes that maximize their safety. The pro

Please briefly describe efforts taken to serve Victims of Federal crime during the reporting period.

The Office continues to build on existing systems and collaborate with service providers to produce a broad and coordinated response to human trafficking in the State of Maryland. Trafficking has no boundaries and is not limited to just one State. The Office housed a Human Trafficking Policy Manager to collect, analyze, and disseminate data on the scope of human trafficking in Maryland. This allowed the Office to have a better understanding about victims of trafficking, so that efforts to assist this population are better served through collaborative efforts statewide. Maryland Crime Victims Rights Conference Governor Larry Hogan welcomed hundreds of individuals who provide services and support to Marylanders who have been victims of crime at the second statewide Maryland Crime Victims Rights Conference in Ellicott City. The daylong conference, sponsored in part by the Governor's Office of Crime Control & Prevention, provided opportunities for law enforcement officers, prosecutors, victim service providers, nonprofit organizations, and health department officials to learn about new methods to apply a victim-centered approach to every aspect of the criminal justice system in Maryland. The Maryland Crime Victims Rights Conference provided opportunities to listen, learn, and network with speakers and peers about all emerging victims issues and solutions. This Administration is committed to helping these individuals rebuild, and creating a criminal justice system that does not exclude crime victims, and holds those who inflict harm accountable for their actions. During the conference, nine workshops were offered to conference attendees on subjects including human trafficking investigations, housing, domestic violence, child sex trafficking, adversity in childhood, law enforcement, and cyber crimes, among others. Grant Projects The Governor's Office of Crime Control & Prevention supports efforts for victims of Federal crimes. VOCA projects allow for the development of policies and protocols regarding victim identification, service response and data collection, and building capacity for a stronger statewide response to human trafficking. Grant funds support personnel, operating & travel expenses, equipment, and training. The following programs are initiatives funded with the victims of Crime Assistance Fund: The Maryland Coalition Against Sexual Assault (MCASA) – Sexual Assault Legal Institute (SALI) Victims of Sex Crimes Assistance (VOCA-VOSCA) program provides legal services to adult and child survivors of state and federal sex crimes throughout the State of Maryland and provides policy support and coordination to programs working with victims of human sex trafficking. The program provides emergency legal services necessary to stabilize victims' lives after victimization and protection of crime victims' rights to help survivors understand and participate in the criminal justice system. The program includes underserved victims, including non-English speaking victims and children. VOCA grant funds provide salary support for staff attorneys, and travel expenses. The Women's Law Center's Multi-Ethnic Domestic Violence Project (MEDOVI) serves any person who has experienced intimate-partner violence, including stalking and sexual assault, and who is seeking emergency protection through the court system, or immigration status independent of their abuser. MEDOVI additionally represents victims of sex trafficking. MEDOVI provides legal immigration-based representation to foreign-born victims of domestic violence, intimate partner stalking, sexual assault, and sex trafficking. The free legal services, information, and advice provided by MEDOVI helps victims obtain legal status without the need for sponsorship by their abusers, which in turn allows them to remain independent and to work legally in the United States. VOCA grant funds provide salary support.

Please identify any emerging issues or notable trends affecting crime victim services in your state during the reporting period.

The Governor's Office of Crime Control & Prevention is Maryland's designated state administering agency for the Federal Victims of Crime Act (VOCA) grant program. Beginning in 2009, GOCCP received Maryland's VOCA award to fund direct services to victims of crimes. With an influx of funding being made available to victims of crime in the State of Maryland, the office sought services through an outside vendor to look deeper into services provided to victims of crime through a victims needs assessment. Victim Service Providers throughout the State assisted with the assessment to help determine any gaps in services as well as assist in developing a comprehensive approach to funding, strategic planning, crime data analysis, best practices, research, and results-oriented customer service in order to reduce unmet needs and service gaps. Results of the needs assessment along with concerns reported through quarterly reports would help coordinate funding priorities for the current funding year. The needs assessment, in particular, outlined emerging issues throughout the State. Improving transportation was the number one recommendation by respondents for improving accessibility to services by crime victims. The primary source of transportation to service provider sites include the bus system, taxi, and own vehicle or family/friend assistance. Respondents overwhelmingly indicated paid transportation or travel vouchers would enhance service accessibility for crime victims. Respondents also indicated transportation issues are also a huge barrier and the greatest reason why crime victims are unable to follow through with services. The Eastern Shore is predominantly rural and the transportation system is primarily highway. Southern Maryland has a lot of agricultural land with green space between widely spaced towns. Transportation is primarily automobile with a limited system of fixed bus routes. The Washington-Baltimore metro area has a larger variety of transportation options but also has the added strain of population growth and density. Another continuing area of concern centered on the lack of various forms of housing. The lack of available and affordable housing forces victim service providers to turn away or delay services to victims often forcing the victim back into an at-risk environment. Because of the unique needs of certain victims, as in the case of human trafficking, transitional housing or shelters can often cause additional stress to the victims rendering the available resources (transitional housing or shelters) ineffective. Lastly, the changing demographics of Maryland has created emerging needs for victim service providers to adapt to, as well as, be able to provide effective services and resources. As such, the continuous growth of the documented and undocumented population and the victim service providers capacity to effectively provide services and resources has reached critical mass. The Needs Assessment captured responses from victim service providers who mentioned that the immigrant/undocumented immigrant population is the largest group they serve and that there is a great need for interpreters and Spanish speaking counselors and advocate. The growth of communities where English is not the primary language seems to exceed the capability to provide sufficient bilingual services. The inability to support these groups effectively hinders the capability of victim service providers to identify crime victims or discover new/emerging victim of crimes needs. These challenges limit outreach and public awareness opportunities to address such emerging crimes.

Please explain your state process to publicize its victim assistance funding for services to victims of crime during the reporting period.

The Office recognizes the importance of notifying victim service providers of available funding provided to them. Therefore, our office offers several outlets where available funding is presented. The grant management system (GMS) is an online grant award tracking system where subgrantees gain access to submit applications for available funds, submit quarterly programmatic and financials, submit modification to the budget, as well as upload any documents necessary to promote the success of their project. All correspondents related to the project between the administering agency and sub grantee are logged here as well. Essentially, the GMS is the "hub" for grant management. The HOME Page of the GMS identifies all funding sources available, provides the Notice of Funding Availability; otherwise known as the solicitation for funding, and applicable due dates. A general overview of the available funding source provides a snapshot of who is eligible to apply and what the project goal is. The office also provides available funding through their website located at <http://goccp.maryland.gov/grants/> under the "Programs currently accepting applications" heading. Press Releases and social media also acknowledge available funding through our office. Lastly, Program Managers send out notifications to sub-recipients in each County when funds are available and for what purpose.

Please explain how your state is able to direct funding to new/underserved populations during the reporting period.

With the unexpectedly large increase in the VOCA cap, the Governor's Office of Crime Control & Prevention had the opportunity to make significant improvements in victim assistance services as well as the responsibility to do so in an accountable and transparent manner. As Maryland effectively manages a sizable increase, it is imperative that funds be sustained in providing essential services. Much of the VOCA funding was used for expansion and targeted projects to assist underrepresented populations of high need. Although sustaining existing projects is important, new projects were awarded as well. To ensure that funding is allocated in an equitable manner, the Governor's Office of Crime Control & Prevention utilized Maryland's Statewide Victim Services Needs Assessment to determine the priorities of our sub-recipients so that we are able to best target funding toward needs that are most pressing. The Assessment is used as a tool to assist us to strategically plan and determine our priority funding needs for the grant application cycle.

Please explain how your program is able to respond to gaps in services during the reporting period.

The Governor's Office of Crime Control & Prevention is Maryland's designated state administering agency for the Federal Victims of Crime Act (VOCA) grant program. Beginning in 2009, GOCCP received Maryland's VOCA award to fund direct services to victims of crimes. With the influx of funding being made available to victims of crime in the State of Maryland, the office sought services through an outside vendor to look deeper into services provided to victims of crime through a victims needs assessment. Victim Service Providers throughout the State assisted with the assessment to help determine any gaps in services as well as assist in developing a comprehensive approach to funding, strategic planning, crime data analysis, best practices, research, and results-oriented customer service in order to reduce unmet needs and service gaps. Results of the needs assessment along with concerns reported through quarterly reports helped coordinate funding priorities for FY 2016. The needs assessment, in particular, outlined emerging issues throughout the State. Moreover, the increase in VOCA funds allowed applicants to seek additional methods for reaching out to victims of crime (ie. social media, billboards, advanced technology) and allow more focus on new populations who are without doubt in needs of services. With that said, applicants applied for what they needed; prioritizing their needs budget-wise based on project goals and objectives. Strategic Plan Development A participatory planning process was used to develop this strategic plan for enhancing and expanding victim services in Maryland. The fact-finding methodology included the use of focus groups, a mail survey, and baseline research. Reports on the focus group and mail survey findings are included as appendices in the complete strategic plan. The Strategic Planning Team acknowledged that due to the economic downturn the Victim Service Category has seen an increase in services needed. Historically, requests for this category far exceed the category allotment. Discussions centered on creative ideas that would have the most impact with the least disruption to victims. The team strongly supported programs that center around core services, enhanced and culturally sensitive services to include: transitional housing, transportation, legal representation, services to underserved populations, such as non-English speaking, and to provide culturally competent and bilingual victim service staff, such as Victim Advocates, Counselors and/or Hotline Coordinators. Maintain domestic violence & sexual assault core services Enhance culturally sensitive services to include all populations regardless of sexual orientation, gender identity, race, ethnicity, and/or religion (Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, Questioning (LGBTQ), Limited English Proficiency, Multi-ethnic, Latino/Hispanic, Black, Immigrant/Refugee) Hospital-Based services that ensure immediate crisis services to Victims (including referral to community based-programs) Provide long-term support for victims (including housing, transportation and transitional support) Ensure victims confidentially Provide civil legal representation Provide trauma informed care (including services and training) Developing and promoting state, local, or tribal legislation and policies that enhance best practices for responding to domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, and stalking Developing, implementing, or enhancing Sexual Assault Response Teams, or other similar coordinated community responses to sexual assault Developing and strengthening policies, protocols, best practices, and training for law enforcement agencies and prosecutors relating to the investigation and prosecution of sexual assault cases and the appropriate treatment of victims.

Please list and explain any outcome measure(s) that are reported to the governor, legislature, or other state entity during the reporting period.

The Office has moved towards collecting outcome based performance measures; encouraging projects and initiatives to focus on delivering services and show their effectiveness via outcome measures. Guidance is provided in the Notice of Funding Availabilities; otherwise known as solicitations to include measurable change or data in their applications to include a measurable change in the quality of life, change in behavior by a client, or an impact as a result of the program. Outcomes are to be numerical counts, standardized measures, level of functioning scales, or client satisfaction. Program Evaluation As the State Administering Agency for victim service programs, GOCCP has created a streamlined, efficient process that is consistent with the desires of the stakeholders and consolidates and coordinates funding for victim services within GOCCP. The benefits of overseeing these funding sources include the ability to leverage scarce resources, identify and form partnerships, and eliminate program and reporting duplication, which ultimately leads to the more equitable distribution of funds statewide. GOCCP is able to assess the worth of each organization's overall project based on the following: Past performance and demonstrated effectiveness of existing projects Development of internal evaluation strategy Ability to collect and maintain data that measures the project's effectiveness before and after implementation of grant activity Demonstration of partnerships Additionally, GOCCP is able to assess each jurisdiction's need for funding based on the following criteria: Documentation of need Current availability of existing program services Geographic size and location Ability to recognize and address the needs of underserved populations Demonstrated capacity and effectiveness of existing programs As part of the evaluation process, each program is responsible for completing quarterly programmatic reports to include performance measures and a project progress (narrative) report. The expected results is measured using the performance measures and client surveys which evaluate knowledge of community resources and knowledge of methods to plan for safety as a result of receiving the following services: shelter accommodations, support services and advocacy, support groups, and counseling. In addition, each program must submit a Quarterly Statistical Report which collects program quantitative data as required for Federal reporting. Each service provider is required to provide the services outlined within the Code of Maryland Regulations (COMAR) and each is a member of the MNADV. the statewide coalition of domestic violence programs. Program reviews or site visits are conducted by regional monitors for domestic violence programs receiving funding to determine compliance with all terms and conditions of the grant agreements. The site visits serve as an opportunity for GOCCP staff monitors to meet with service providers and discuss specific needs and accomplishments of the programs. These visits allow monitors and agencies to review expenditures, conditions of the grant, project success, upcoming projects, and/or identify any gaps in services. GOCCP staff members meet frequently to discuss program budget distribution, to include the VOCA funding. Services are also coordinated by daily contact of staff and fund managers regarding programmatic and financial issues.
